

The Colorado Commission on Higher Education is proud to announce the recipients of the 2003-2004 No Child Left Behind Improving Teacher Quality Grants

Grant Title

Institution

Mathematics Foundations for Middle School Teachers

Mesa State College

Reform in Mathematics Education (RIME): A Model Of Collaboration for Enhancing Mathematics Preparedness and Teacher Retention

Colorado State University

San Luis Valley Math Academy

Adams State College

Enhancement of Mathematics Performance for Students Grades 7-8-9: Research and Professional Development

University of Colorado at Colorado Springs

A University-School District Partnership to Improve Student Achievement and Quality Teaching in Mathematics and Reading

University of Northern Colorado

Calculating Success

Fort Lewis College

Southern Colorado Math Initiative

Colorado State University-Pueblo

Metro's Mathematics for the Middle Program, Creating Highly Qualified Teachers of Middle School Mathematics

Metropolitan State College of Denver

A Systems Approach to Utilizing Professional Development Schools for First-Year Teacher Retention: Induction Looping

University of Colorado at Denver

Colorado Christian University, Colorado School of Mines and Selected Denver-Metro School Districts Partnership to Prepare Highly Qualified Mathematics Teachers for Grades 7-12

Colorado Christian University and Colorado School of Mines